

READINGS FOR SUNDAY, MAY 7, 2017

Be in the Flow

Thomas Merton - At the center of our being is a point of nothingness which is untouched by [error thinking and by illusion], a point of pure truth, a point or spark which belongs entirely to God.

Antoine de Saint-Exupéry - when the prince asks, “To tame something: what does that mean?” The fox teaches him, “It means to form bonds. If you tame me, we’ll need each other. You become responsible forever for what you have tamed.”

Ken Wilbur - “Practice the wound of love. Real love hurts; real love makes you totally vulnerable and open; real love will take you far beyond yourself; and therefore real love will devastate you.

Meister Eckhart - The eye with which I see God is the same one with which God sees me.

Gospel of Thomas: Blessed are you in the midst of persecution who, when they hate and pursue you even to the core of your being, cannot find “you” anywhere.

Michael Singer:

Affirm that all you want is to be at peace and appreciate life. You don't want your happiness to be conditional on the behavior of other people. It's bad enough that your happiness is conditional on your own behavior!

The brilliant young South African teacher Michael Brown - Giving-is-receiving is the energetic frequency upon which our universe is aligned. All other approaches to energy exchange immediately cause dissonance and disharmony in our life experience.